DETAILED ACTION

1. Receipt is acknowledged of the Amendment of 8 April 2005.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

2. Claims 1-18 and 25-30 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention. The independent claims recite the use of magnetic switches or magnetically movable reading devices/sensors which the Applicant discusses in the Amendment of 8 April 2005 (page 8+) provide substantial advantages over both magnetic field sensors and mechanical contact switches, and that magnetic switches comprises a pair of flexible ferrous metal contacts hermetically sealed within a gas filled container. Such teachings are not disclosed in the specification, as magnetic sensors were only disclosed. Accordingly, such limitations were not previously disclosed and are deemed new matter. All new matter should be removed from the claims. Based upon the specification the current claims contain matter not described in the specification and not obvious to the Examiner, or one of ordinary skill in the art as magnetic sensors as originally set forth in the specification does not obviously mean magnetic switches/movable devices and not magnetic field sensors, etc. The Examiner will not speculate on what type of magnetic sensor the Applicant 'meant' in the specification, as such a term is too generic, and does not permit the Applicant to overcome prior art of one type of magnetic sensor by simply claiming another type of magnetic sensor that was not in the specification and was clearly not an obvious meaning for magnetic sensor. The Applicants original specification merely mentioned magnetic sensors in the general sense. To speculate that magnetic sensors means magnetic switches and movable devices but not magnetic field sensors is non-obvious. Based upon the specification the current claims contain matter not described in the specification and therefore it is not reasonably conveyed that at the time the application was filed, the Applicant had possession of the claimed invention, as such magnetic switches/movable devices were not described and are not obvious in light of magnetic sensors mentioned. Mentioning a generic term such as "magnetic sensors" in the specification does not permit Applicant to overcome prior art teachings of one type of magnetic sensor by simply claiming a different type of magnetic sensor that is not described in the specification, as the specification does not demonstrate that the Applicant had possession of the claimed invention and the specifics of the claimed sensors.

Conclusion

3. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

Art Unit: 2876

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
